Gaël Even :
Lexovien, professional guide and champion of France

Spotted at the age of 15 for his technique and the quality of his catch, he is one of the few French professionals to make a living from his art.

Considered one of the first French anglers to compete, Gaël has an impressive track record: three-time French Champion, two-time runner-up World Champion in a team, third in the World Individual Championship...

This ace of the reel is a major influencer as he tests the equipment of his sponsors before presenting them to the general public in shows dedicated to fishing. Consultant on the cable TV channel Seasons, he runs a blog followed by more than 3 million followers. Gaël is a professional fishing guide.

In 2019, Gaël Even will accompany the outings on the Touques for four weekends (between June and October), fishing season for sea trout. As a way for him to promote this sport and to highlight the natural environment of the Touques, as much as its preservation.

Over four weekends (between June and October), Gaël Even accompanies enthusiasts and those curious about this invigorating activity. A true specialist: Lisieux fishing guide, Gael has been crowned French Champion several times and medallist three times at the World Championships. To your flies!

The program

Discovery of the best fishing spots, advice on reading the water and the behaviour of the fish, discovering the riches of the local nature, learning and improving techniques. Possible loan of professional material and equipment.

The Touques, European champion for sea trout fishing

Ranked first category, the river is born in the Orne, crosses the Lisieux urban area and flows into the Channel between Deauville and Trouville. Its fresh and healthy waters, its sustained flow thanks to marked slopes, stony bottoms and some large pits, make up a habitat sought by sea trout.
